RIF RESPONDS: Hurricane Harvey

Reading Is Fundamental is responding to the devastation in the path of Hurricane Harvey by donating 25,000 books to thousands of displaced children. We have teamed up with Save the Children to provide new books and educational resources for children in shelters. Giving children books in the wake of a natural disaster will help foster a sense normalcy in a chaotic environment. For a limited time, you can direct your donation towards creating a more comfortable environment for children who have lost everything. Join us so we can do even more to help children affected by Hurricane Harvey.

Now Introducing Literacy Network!
Calling all literacy champions! Get ready, the RIF Literacy Network has launched! Literacy Network is a new, digital destination providing resources and support for individual volunteers, RIF sites and partner organizations that champion children’s literacy nationwide. Join RIF, Be the Change!
Literacy is the foundation for learning and opens doors to life. As kids head back to school this year, we have the opportunity to make a real, lasting difference in their lives. This back-to-school season, an anonymous donor is doubling all donations up to $100,000. When you give between now and September 30, your investment in literacy truly counts — twice!

Way to go, KKG!
Reading Is Fundamental is pleased to recognize Kappa Kappa Gamma (KKG) as our September Donor of the Month. RIF is proud to partner with the women of KKG as their national philanthropy. Since the start of our partnership, Kappa chapters and alumnae have contributed nearly one million dollars and countless volunteer hours to RIF sites nationwide as dedicated literacy advocates.
