CLICK, CLACK, MOO: COWS THAT TYPE

by Doreen Cronin

Book summary: Farmer Brown has a problem. His cows like to type. All day long he hears:

Click, clack, MOO.

Click, clack, MOO.

Clickety, clack, MOO.

But Farmer Brown's problems REALLY begin when his cows start leaving him notes....

DIRECTIONS

Estimated time: 20 minutes

1. Before visiting the school, print out copies of the Human Animal handout. Create one or two examples of human animals to share with the group.
2. Read Click, Clack, Moo: Cows That Type to the class. Talk to the children about the book. Did they think it was funny? Were they surprised that the cows could type? What was their favorite part?
3. Explain to the group that they'll be doing a fun imagination activity. Ask them to think about their favorite animal. Call on a few volunteers and ask them to share which animal they like best.
4. Tell the students that they will be creating a fun "human animal."
5. Distribute the Human Animal handout. Ask children to draw a picture of themselves with some of the features of their favorite animal. For example, a child who likes birds would draw himself with wings and feathers.
6. After they have finished drawing, ask a few students to talk about their creation.
