READ ALOUD

Before Reading: Build Background

- Ask, "What's your favorite thing to do during a break from school? Would you rather do that or try something new?"

While Reading: Make Connections

- What does Gemma want to do during summer break? How does she feel about going camping?
- What activities does Gemma do on the camping trip? What does she discover?
- How do Gemma's feelings change throughout the adventure? What makes her feel different?

After Reading: Ask Questions

- Ask, "What is the main idea of this story? What does this teach us about trying new things?"

RELATED ACTIVITIES

If your child enjoyed this book:

- Plan a "Real-Life Adventure" together. Choose an outdoor activity you can do as a family (like a picnic, hike, nature walk, or camping trip). Talk about what makes spending time together in nature special and different from screen time, just like Gemma discovered the joy of being outdoors with her family.
