MAKE YOUR OWN VOLCANIC ERUPTION

George hates Grandma so much that he wants to do something about her. Something whopping, a sort of explosion . . . and here's how you can make your own giant eruption!

WHAT YOU'LL NEED:

- A small plastic bottle
- Brown modelling clay
- White vinegar
- Kitchen roll or toilet tissue
- Washing-up liquid
- Bicarbonate of soda
- Red food colouring
- Elastic bands

This one can get very messy very quickly, so either do it outside or build your volcano on a baking tray or large dish.

1 Take the top off an empty plastic bottle and stand it on a flat, level surface. Use the modelling clay to cover the bottle. Try to make it look volcano-shaped, and don't forget to leave an opening at the top so the lava can erupt out of it.

2 In a bowl, mix together half a bottle of vinegar with some red food colouring. Add a squirt of washing-up liquid and stir.

3 Carefully pour the vinegar mixture, using the funnel, into the bottle through the hole at the top of the volcano.

4 Wrap two or three heaped tablespoons of bicarbonate of soda in a sheet of kitchen roll or tissue. Tie the package together with elastic bands so the powder can't leak out.

5 Drop the package into the volcano - then stand back. Marvel at the spluttering, fizzing 'lava' as it bubbles and splutters through the hole at the top, just like a real volcano (only not as hot).

WHAT IF?

Try cutting the top off the bottle to make a wider hole. How does this affect the eruption?

What happens if you leave out the washing-up liquid?

WHAT'S HAPPENING HERE:

Bicarbonate of soda is another name for the chemical sodium bicarbonate. This is an alkaline that, when mixed with the acetic acid in the vinegar, creates carbon dioxide gas. Carbon dioxide is a completely harmless gas and is used to put the fizz in soft drinks.

These diary entries have been all jumbled up!
Can you match them to the correct Matilda characters?

You'll never believe it, but today was the best day ever! Got rid of a right bunch of rubbish – all it needed was a bit of spit and polish. Passed it on for two grand. I'm a genius!

Matilda

2

Today I met the most delightful child who amazed me with her abilities. Her reading level was so advanced, and the sums she could do ... plus she had impeccable manners! And all this without any love or care from her family – the poor darling.

Miss Honey

I'm just glad I got home alive today after what happened to Amanda and Bruce. Miss Trunchbull was so unbelievably cruel to them. I can barely bring myself to write about it. I think she might be completely mad.

1

Mrs Wormwood

Trunchbull

5

What a dirty, little worm. She deserves to be beaten every time she opens her gob. I have zero tolerance for the needy and the weak!

Mr Wormwood

4

Oh, what a fool! He actually managed to use superglue on his hair this morning. I tried not to laugh, really I did, but what could I do? I had to cut his hat off his head! He won't be doing that again in a hurry – he'd better read the labels next time!

Now it's time to write your very own diary entry! Roald Dahl's books are full of daring, funny and heroic characters! In Billy and the Minpins, there's a brand-new hero to meet, who goes on an epic adventure in a deep dark forest.
